

Sanitary Napkins & Tampons

Sanitary napkins help provide maximum protection and have a garment adhesive strip for secure attachment. They are wrapped individually and work with compatible dispensers.

Tampons are biodegradable for easy disposal. They are individually wrapped in tubes for use in compatible dispensers.

Sanitary napkin belts secure sanitary pads. They have a closure and an elastic band for easy adjustments and comfort. White color.

Sanitary Napkin Receptacles & Liners

Sanitary napkin receptacles make it convenient to dispose of personal hygiene products. Mount them near toilets or use them free-standing in public restrooms. Wall-mounted receptacles keep units off the floor, making it easier to clean floors. Freestanding units can be placed on the floor next to a toilet, eliminating the need to drill holes for installation. They are often used with a liner to keep receptacles clean. Liners are not included where pictured.

Sanitary napkin receptacle liners are paper bags placed inside receptacles to ease cleanup and help contain feminine hygiene waste. Liners keep waste contained and reduce cleanup of the receptacles. They also limit the risk of workers coming into contact with biowaste. Plastic and wax-lined paper liners prevent liquids from seeping through the liner.

Sanitary Napkin Disposal Bag Dispensers & Bags

Feminine hygiene starter kit includes 421X19 Sanitary Napkin Disposal Bag Dispenser, (4) 421X18 Sanitary Napkin Disposal Bag Packs, and (1) Sign.

Sanitary napkin disposal bag dispensers keep bags organized and allow users to select one bag at a time. They are installed in bathroom stalls or near toilets to encourage correct disposal of feminine hygiene and incontinence products.

Sanitary napkin disposal bags are placed on restroom counters or in stalls to encourage correct disposal of feminine hygiene, incontinence, and personal care products. These individual bags do not require a dispenser. Correct disposal of personal care products eliminates clogs and other plumbing issues caused by flushing products.
